

Before coming here, I didn't want, I was really anxious just to have, for example, a roommate; but I really advise anybody to have this experience because it's only, it's really unique, to see how a country is different from another. It's through that, we can listen to music, we can watch movies, but when you live in the country, it's totally different.